

Preface

The creation of the Australian Year Book of International Law was entirely due to the efforts of Mr. J. G. Starke, Q.C., with the support and encouragement of Messrs. W. H. Nichols and F. C. Judson of Butterworth & Co. (Aust.) Ltd., Sydney. As Editor, Mr. Starke piloted it through the first two volumes, with the goodwill and co-operation of contributors. Because he felt that the interests of the Year Book would be better served if it could be serviced by the resources of a Law School, an arrangement was reached whereby responsibility for the production of the following three volumes (of which this is the first) would be assumed by the Monash Law Faculty. In taking over this task we have been fortunate in having Mr. Starke's continued support in his capacity as Consultant Editor, and also in the interest shown by other Australian Law Schools which are represented on the Editorial Committee. In addition, we have had, from the beginning of our association with the Year Book, the encouragement of assistance received from the Department of External Affairs and particularly from Mr. P. Brazil, the Department's representative on the Editorial Committee.
