

Tassie, anyone?

May we please have your attention!
It's the 28th Convention to be held in Hobart late this year -- September 26.

As ingenious devisers the Convention organisers Have succeeded in producing a most interesting mix.

Legal Practice, Education, HIV and Mediation Planning Conflicts, Expert Witnesses
The Law's Approach to Science.
Natural Justice and Discretion Legal Aid and The Profession, Corporations, Equal Sentences;
A Better Deal for Clients.

But outside the conference splendour there is much on the agenda, The Accompany Person has an awful lot from which to choose.
There are walks and mountain scaling; golf and tennis, even sailing; Ferry trips, historic touring and a Gordon River cruise.

And whatever the occasion there are restaurants French and Asian,
If you like a stout try Knopwoods; or a steak the Ball and Chain.
There is venison and gammon,
Island cheese, Atlantic Salmon; Mure's seafood, Chardonnay and a beef that's fed by grain.

If your appetite is whetted and your Visa Card's unfettered Contact ICMS Parkville, Vic or make enquiries here.
There's a form for registration which includes accommodation For we'd really like to see you down in Hobart Town this year.

And on the Convention

If Peter Lyons hasn't whet your appetite (above), this may help you.

The Law Convention will be held in Hobart from 26-30 September this year.

The Convention is sponsored by Ernst & Young, Telecom Australia, Minet, the Law Book Company, Gallens Crowley & Chamberlain, Mallesons Stephen Jaques and the [federal] Attorney-General's Legal Practice.

Overseas speakers will include the Right Hon Sir Iain Glidewell (High Court Judge, UK), Professor Dr
Jochen Abr Frowein (former Vice-President of the European Commission of Human Rights and former Director of the Centre for Studies and Research at the Hague Academy of International Law), the Right Hon Sir Ivor

Richardson (former judge of the High Court and Court of Appeal in New Zealand and appointed to the Privy Council in 1978).

A brochure detailing the programme of both the business and social sides of the Convention will be available in Australian Lawyer later this month and will include registration forms for practitioners and accompanying persons.
