

Where to Complain in the Northern Territory

The Northern Territory Legal Aid Commission and the Office of the Ombudsman of the Northern Territory have produced the second edition of Where To Complain in the Northern Territory.

The publication contains a listing of names, addresses and telephone contact details where complaints on a comprehensive range of issues may be directed.

The second edition of Where to Complain in the Northern Territory was launched in February by the Chief Minister and is available from NTLAC.

Postgraduate Programs in Advocacy

Bond University School of Law, in conjunction with the Australian Advocacy Institute advises that it offers two new postgraduate programs of subjects in advocacy.

The programs, which operate from January 1997, are Master of Law (Advocacy) and Graduate Diploma in advocacy.

These have been designed and developed by Bond University in close consultation with the Hon Justice George Hampel, Chairman of the Australian Advocacy Institute.

Any queries about the program may be directed to Professor Eric Colvin, on tel: 07 5595 2264 or Assistant Professor Bobette Wolski on tel: 07 5595 2033.

European Law Centre

The University of New South Wales has established a centre which specialises in the study of European law and is the first of its kind outside Europe and the United States.

Under the leadership of foundation Director, Professor Stephen Hall, the European Law Centre will provide research into a wide range of European legal issues and will examine the legal implications of economic, trade and political cooperation between Europe and the Australasian region.

The former Chief Justice of Australia, the Hon Sir Anthony Mason is the Chairman of the Centre's Advisory Board, which also has as one of its board members, the Head of the European Commission to Australia and NZ, Ambassador Aneurin Hughes.

NORTHERN TERRITORY LEGAL AID COMMISSION

WANTED

Legally qualified persons for Legal Aid Committees

The Legal Aid Committee is looking for practitioners employed in private practice and community legal services to put their names forward for the Contingency Legal Aid Fund Panel and Review Committee Panel.

The CLAF Committee decides on the allocation of Contingency Legal Aid Funding and the Review Committee reviews applications for legal aid which have been refused.

The Committees meet for approximately 1 hour during a lunch time approximately once per month and therefore members are not required on a regular basis.

Anyone interested should contact Sue Reddy on 8999 300 prior to 16 April 1997
