

United Nations Global Compact

Kinley, D., 'Human Rights and Corporate Responsibilities', Reputation Qest UN Global Compact Seminar, Blake Dawson Waldron, Melbourne, 18 October 2001.

Kinley, D., 'Legal Perspectives on the UN Global Compact', Discussion Forum at Ruyton Girls' School, 7 March 2002.

Project Grants

Non-Academic Bodies

Burma

'Human Rights and International Law Training Program' for officials of Government of Burma: 2000-2002.

Indonesia

The Castan Centre has won a second tender under the Indonesia Australia Specialist Training Project II (IASTPII) program to run a series of human rights workshops here at the Faculty.

The first workshop was held for 15 Indonesian officials in April -July 2001. The second workshop is taking place from April to June 2002, for 19 Indonesian government officials. In addition to a number of external experts engaged specifically for the workshops many lecturers from within the Faculty have been involved in the delivery of the workshops and seminars.

Welcome Dinner for Indonesians 2001

'Human Rights Training Workshop' for staff of Indonesian Ministry of Human Rights, Indonesia-Australia Strategic Training Program II, Puncak, Indonesia, June 2000.

Advice to Indonesian Minister for Human Rights on Ministry Strategic Planning, Jakarta, March-April 2000.

Provision of Short Course on International Law to Officials from Indonesian Ministry of Law and legislation by Monash University Law School, with Commonwealth Attorney-General's Department, June-July 2000.

Academic Bodies

Bill of Rights

Debeljak, J., Strategic Partnership with Industry - Research and Training (SPIRT) Grant (The Judicial Conference of Australia being the Industry Partner) 1999-2002: The Institutional Impact of a Bill of Rights.

Debeljak, J., 'Reform in American History and Law', Fulbright American Studies Institute Fellowship, June-August 2001.

Corporations and Human Rights

The Centre has won a substantial grant to conduct a major three-year research project into the legal dimensions of the relationship, both present and future, between corporations and human rights, beginning in January 2002.

The project is being undertaken by the Castan Centre, led by Prof Kinley and Sarah Joseph, in conjunction with its Industry Partners, Futureye and Premier Oil (UK).

The project is being run under the auspices of an Australian Research Council Linkage Grant.

The project is international and domestic in focus. Part of the research will involve significant industry, NGO, government and community consultation and the project team would be happy to hear from organisations who might be interested in participating in or learning more about the project. For more information see article by David Kinley and Sarah Joseph in the Alternative Law Journal: http://www.law.monash.edu.au/castan/centre/arc_kinley.pdf

Globalisation

Kinley, D., McAdam, M., Bieske, N., Kneebone, K., 'Globalising Human Rights in Asia' part of a coalition of six centres established under the research unit on cultures and technologies in Asia: SMURF Grant 2001.

Prisons

Naylor, B., Monash University Small Grants Scheme 2000: 'Accountability in public and private prisons: the operation of internal disciplinary hearings in Victorian prisons'.

Refugees

Kneebone, S., ARC Discovery Scheme Grant 2002: 'Fair Procedures for Refugee Status Determination'.