

Malinconico to visit Australia

S. Michael Malinconico, the energetic and sometimes controversial Associate Director for Technical Services at the New York Public Library, will speak at the Cataloguers' Section National Conference in Canberra on 11-12 October. The title of his paper will be 'hopefully I will have retired by then: technological change; opportunities, disaffection and management responsibilities'. It should be a lively and provocative session.

Registration forms for the conference can be obtained from PO Box 68 Dickson ACT, 2602. A late fee applies after August 30. Applications close on 18 September.

From PNG to Canberra

In October, Pauline Cochrane will fly out of Port Moresby to present a paper at the Cataloguers' Section National Conference, to be held in Canberra on 11-12 October.

Professor Cochrane will speak on 'The management of subject cataloguing in an era of interactive cataloguers' and is excellently qualified to do so. A faculty member of the Syracuse University School of Information Science, she has taken two years leave to accompany her husband on a PNG posting, and to work on her latest book Redesign of catalogs and indexes for improved subject access.

Registration forms for the conference can be obtained from PO Box 68 Dickson ACT 2602. A late fee applies after August 30. Applications close on 18 September.

Down on the farm

Although your intrepid reporter did not avail herself of the opportunity to interview Meg and David Miller and their pet pig during their recent visit to Sydney, she will remind you about the Millers' magazine Grass Roots.

Australia's most widely read 'alternative lifestyle' magazine, it's popular with country dwellers, crafty people and those who just dream of owning a five-acre lot one of these days. Every library should have a subscription! Enquiries to Night Owl Publishers, Box 764, Shepparton Vic 3630.

Where is the Donald Bradman Collection?

Stumped? Run out and buy [groan] the Australian Librarian's Manual, volume 3. Out soon.

Please don't tax books

The National Book Council has reprinted the cards used so effectively in their tax campaign against a book tax.

The cards, which will be produced in packs of 25, 50 and 100 are available from all State Libraries. Please contact them for supplies so that as many people as possible can make known their objections to the proposed sales tax on books.

The University of New England
MASTER OF
LETTERS DEGREES

This University will offer the following external postgraduate courses in 1986: American Fiction; Bloomsbury and its Associates; Chaucer; Children's Literature; English Literature in Transition, 1880-1930; Modern Drama; Old English Language and Literature; Shakespeare and the Drama of his Time; The Irish Literary Renaissance; The Rise of the Novel; The English Novel, 1700-1830; The Rise of Terror Fiction; Twentieth Century Australian Literature (Prose and Drama); and Victorian Literature. Full details of all courses may be found in the Handbook available from:

The Secretary,
Department of English,
University of New England,
Armidale, NSW 2351.

Applicants should have a degree with an English major and with a credit at second or third year level. Applicants who have not majored in English but who consider their qualifications to be equivalent to those specified above should write direct to The Faculty Secretary, Faculty of Arts, Administration, University of New England, Armidale, NSW 2351 concerning their eligibility. Application forms will be forwarded with the Handbook.

APPLICATIONS CLOSE ON 31st OCTOBER, 1985.

Applicants should note that the number of enrolments will probably be restricted and a quota imposed.

To advertise in InCite ring Jenny Menzies on (02) 692 9233.

Bookseller's records go to NLA

The first official function for Warren Horton, the new Director General of the National Library of Australia, took place on July 29. This was the presentation to the library of papers belonging to bookseller Teki Dalton, covering thirty years in the book trade.

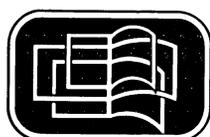

Mr Dalton began his career in bookselling with Dymocks in Sydney, later joining Cheshire in Canberra, a business he was ultimately to own. He has also been an active member of Australian bookselling associations.

Canberra bookseller, Mr Teki Dalton, (left) who presented his personal papers covering thirty years in the Australian book trade to the National Library. The papers were received by the Library's new Director General, Mr Warren Horton, (right). National Library of Australia photograph by Louis Sesejia

We provide:

- A total procurement service for Australian, New Zealand, U.K., North American and other overseas publications.
- A priority order service.
- A continuations service for annuals and irregular series.
- On-approval plans for Australasian and Library Science publications according to the subject profiles nominated by librarians.
- An Australasian New Title Service profiled according to your subject requirements.

James Bennett Library Services

4 COLLAROY STREET, COLLAROY, NSW 2097, AUSTRALIA . PH. (02) 982 2122