SOUTH AUSTRALIAN PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD CLASSIFICATION REVIEW

Following representations from the LAA, the Public Service Association and other interested parties, the South Australian Public Service Board has made significant modifications to its proposed new classification scheme for library staff. The changes introduced include:

- Separate structures for Librarians, Library Technicians and Archivists.
• A 6 level librarian structure.
• A 3 level library technician structure with an additional level for library technicians in training.
• Qualification requirements for Librarians and Library Technicians consistent with the requirements laid down by the LAA.

A number of other changes have also been made to the original proposal, in response to comments made by the LAA in submissions to the Public Service Board and at a meeting with Board officials held earlier this year.

Progression of Non-Graduate Librarians in NSW Public Service

In April this year the LAA wrote to the NSW Public Service Board regarding the promotional opportunities available to non-graduate librarians in the NSW Public Service. Non-graduate librarians employed in the NSW Public Service after June 30 1976, were prevented from being appointed to promotional positions above base grade.

In its reply to the LAA, the Public Service Board has announced that it has approved the removal of the promotional barrier to allow non-graduate librarians who have joined the Service since June 30 1976, the opportunity to compete for vacant promotional Librarian positions.

Changes to Victorian Workers Compensation Legislation

The Accident Compensation Act, 1985, which passed through the Victorian Parliament in July, will introduce widespread changes to workers compensation in that State. All workers compensation is to be administered by a newly established Accident Compensation Commission. A new insurance structure and new benefits structure have also been created and changes have been made to the rights and duties of both employer and workers. All workers injured after 4 o'clock on August 31 1985, the proposed 'appointed day' for the operation of the Act, will have their rights duties and benefits governed by the new legislation. Those injured before that date will continue to have their rights, duties and benefits governed by the Workers Compensation Act 1958.

Library Staff and the CES

A reminder to unemployed library staff to register with the Commonwealth Employment Service/Professional Employment Service in order to be eligible for positions in libraries created under the CEP scheme.

It is advisable periodically to follow up initial applications with the CES to ensure that staff remain aware of your availability for library employment.
