Dig it?

To many people archaeology is almost synonymous with the land of Israel. The number and variety of sites, the scale and quality of excavations, and the links to biblical history, all reinforce this view.

The next exhibition at the Jewish Museum of Australia, 'Archaeology of Ancient Israel' running from November 86 to March 87, will provide a taste of what archaeological research — particularly excavation — is really like. Full scale reproductions of excavations, together with ancient pottery and other artefacts will be combined with numerous photographs in the displays.

For further enquiries please contact Mrs Gaby Eisen (Publicity Coordinator) (02) 211 6379, or Dr Helen Light (Curator) (02) 266 1922.

Shopfront's expanding!

Shopfront is growing and taking over next door! Shopfront is Australia's largest Community Youth Centre and serves the St George, Sutherland and Canterbury areas of Sydney. Two hundred young people are already involved in the theatre and the wide range of artistic activities that go on at the busy Shopfront, and there are as many more on the waiting list, so the expansion is not before time!

The Hon Frank Walker, Minister for the Arts presented Shopfront with a cheque for $37,000 on August 25 and the children are involved in fund raising activities to raise a similar amount.

Shopfront is located at 88 Carlton Parade Carlton 2218 and their phone number is (02) 588 3948.

Who's where

☆ Baker & Taylor is now in Japan. The Tokyo office will be headed by Mr Yutaka Ichikawa, recently Sales Director in Japan for Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich. The new office will be located in the Phoenix Building, 4-3, Azabudai, 1-chome, Minato-ku, Tokyo, 106.

☆ Joan Brewer has been appointed to a two-year term as a member of the National Women's Consultative Committee. The Committee is a body of the Office of the Status of Women in the Dept. of the Prime Minister and Cabinet. Joan is well known nationally for her work in librarianship and education and as former Head of School Library Studies at SACAE. She would be pleased to hear from librarians and others who would like to have some input on women's issues at the national level. She may be contacted on (08) 332 4102.

Who's where.

Don't forget to send details of staff changes, new appointments etc for listing in this column.

From horizontal sundial to noodle collage

It's always a pleasure to receive a new issue of Grass Roots, because an encounter with the unusual is guaranteed.

Where else could one find articles on Taga-saste, Yurts and Locker Hooking all in one issue? And for those concerned with more everyday subjects, papermaking and growing beans are also covered.

The August issue is well up to standard with items on poetry and pot belly stoves, orchard pests and newborn kids, something called the bunyip level and requests for penpals including one from someone with the intriguing name of Timothy-Anne!

ABC Advisory Councils

Another librarian, Carol Mills, Institute Librarian, Riverina-Murray Institute of Higher Education, in Wagga, is serving as an ABC Advisory Councillor on the New South Wales Advisory Council. She may be contacted on (069) 26 1537 (home), and (069) 23 2332 (work).

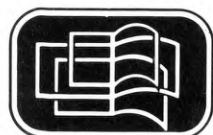

If the Advisory Council is to function effectively it is vital that it be aware of opinions and reactions to issues of public concern relating to broadcasting. Through Carol Mills, Barbara Biggins and Euan Miller (see InCite 5/9/86 p.9), LAA members have an avenue of approach to the ABC for both library and other matters which can be extremely useful.

Captive audience

The Glenroy Branch of the Moonee Valley Regional Library in Victoria recently featured on the ABC News when a young borrower handcuffed himself to a chair. The victim, four-year-old Steven, entertained spectators with stories of his favourite football team while the handcuff was removed. This operation took half an hour and the skills of six firemen, four ambulance drivers and two police officers. Young Steven remained unscathed, the library received great publicity and the six firefighters, four ambulance drivers and two police officers probably borrowed a book on the way out!
