In 1947 British library consultant Lionel McColvin, reflecting on the generally poor state of Australian libraries, asserted that 'better library services for Australia won't just happen ... the few must lead, must fight, must persist'. Because the relatively few did lead, did fight and did persist, at the end of the 20th century Australia now has library and information services in which, despite constraints on the achievement of their full potential, it can take considerable pride.

The ALIA Board of Directors is considering a 20th century honour roll, for permanent display in ALIA House, of people — professional and lay — who have contributed significantly to library and information services and the profession during the 20th century. Below is my first attempt at a list

The list will include all presidents of ALIA and its predecessors, as well as Fellows and recipients of major national awards. However the list will not be limited to people associated with ALIA.

Suggestions for additional names, with brief substantiation, may be sent to me at PO Box 622 Blackwood SA 5051, fax 08 8302 6362, e-mail alan.bundy@unisa.edu.au.
