

Building information literate communities

Advocacy kit to be launched during Library and Information Week

A library advocate's guide to building information literate communities, an advocacy kit for promoting the library's role in developing information literacy, will be launched during Library and Information Week 2003.

The ALIA Information Literacy forum has been working on an Australian guide, based on the kit designed by the American Library Association. Packed with tools, tips and techniques, the kit makes it easy to deliver the message that libraries are vital to the development of an information literate community.

When: Tuesday, 13 May, 6–7pm [date to be confirmed]

Where: Brighton Branch, Bayside Library services, 14 Carpenter Street, Brighton.

Come along and enjoy drinks, nibbles and riveting speakers.

We are delighted to be launching this kit during Library and Information Week in conjunction with Adult Learning Australia.

For details and more information about the launch contact: Prue Mercer, PMercer@slv.vic.gov.au; Kris Johnstone, kris.johnstone@sacrecoeur.melb.catholic.edu.au; or visit <http://groups.alia.org.au/infolit/>.

Following the launch, the Kit will be available on ALIANet at <http://alia.org.au/alw/2003/>.

Law talks during library week

Do you have questions about the law? Parramatta City Library is presenting a series of law talks during May 2003. They are designed for the general public to discover more information about family law, divorce, de facto relationships and neighbours, householders and the law.

These law talks will be held on the following dates:

Monday 12 May: family law, divorce and de facto relationships.

Tuesday 13 May: neighbours, householders and the law

Bookings are essential and can be made by phoning Parramatta City Library on 02 9806 5159.

All talks are free and commence at 6:00pm.

Light refreshments will be served.
