Recent movements in the library and information services sector

Centre for Information Studies, Charles Sturt University

The Centre for Information Studies aims to support high quality research, publications and continuing professional development in library and information science, teacher librarianship and Australian literature for young people, and is a leading Australasian publisher of books in these subject areas.

Stuart Ferguson has been involved with the Centre for Information Studies since 1991 and has been a director, off and on, since 1996. His current contract began in January 2004. Lianne commenced as a part-time administrator in 2002, and was recently appointed full-time. Another recent addition to the CIS team is Damian Lodge, who brings expertise in the areas of business and marketing.

CAL announces three new Board Directors

Copyright Agency Limited (CAL), Australia's not-for-profit rights and communications management company, has announced the appointment of three new Board directors.

Susan Hayes and James Bradley have been appointed to CAL's Board of Directors. Current director Anne Davies was re-elected by an author member vote. Rodney Martin was elected for his first term on the Board by a publisher member vote.

James Bradley is an author and critic. He has been a member of the Australian Society of Authors Executive Committee since 2001, and the Committee of Sydney PEN (2002-03). Susan Hayes is chair of the Australian Society of Authors and director of the Australian National Playwright Centre. She was a former state literature officer for Western Australia for nine years. Rodney Martin is the managing director of Era Publications. A former teacher, administrator and curriculum writer, he has also worked in publishing and has previous experience as a company director.

Endeavor Information Systems

Endeavor Information Systems has announced that David Richter has joined the software developer as vice-president of Global Sales. In this role, Richter will lead Endeavor's worldwide sales initiatives introducing academic, research and special libraries to Endeavor's eighteen library software systems.

Richter was most recently general manager of SPSS Inc/ShowCase, a leading business intelligence and predictive analytics software developer serving customers in academic institutions, corporations, health-care providers and government agencies. He also brings to Endeavor fifteen years of progressive experience with Lexis Nexis in a variety of sales, and technical leadership roles.

Innovative announces vice-president of marketing

Innovative Interfaces has announced the appointment of Gene Shimshock to the position of vice-president of Marketing. In this new position, Shimshock will have strategic oversight of all activities that define and communicate Innovative's presence in the library marketplace.

Before coming to Innovative, Shimshock held a senior marketing position at Information Access Company, now part of the Gale Group. Shimshock has also held executive product marketing and management positions at Knight-Ridder Financial Information and Netcom.

Factiva

Factiva has announced several management additions to its professional services team, Factiva Consulting Services. The team is led by Arthur Rassias, global director, who is responsible for overall growth and development of the group, client satisfaction and strategic planning. Mr Rassias has worked in positions around the world for Factiva, expanding customer relationships, developing business in emerging markets and delivering client solutions globally. Joining Mr Rassias as heads of North American and European Integration practices, respectively, are Tim Brandner, most recently director of sales at OneSource Information Services, and Robert De Laney, previously vice-president of sales and business development at Alacra, Inc. ■
