

National Simultaneous Storytime 2008

Wednesday 21 May at 11:00am

Participate in reading Arthur simultaneously throughout the country! ALIA invites all public library services, primary and preschool libraries, and early childhood centres to register to be part of this event.

This is a wonderful opportunity to promote your library! National Simultaneous Storytime (NSS) promotes the value of reading and literacy, and the value of books, and encourages storytime activities in public libraries around the country.

This year's NSS book is Arthur, written by Amanda Graham and illustrated by Donna Gynell, and published by Era Publications.

New LLO for Tasmania

Sally Murdoch has been appointed as ALIA's Local Liaison Officer (LLO) for Tasmania. As LLO, Sally will be responsible for promoting ALIA and supporting groups and members across the Apple Isle. She has many years' experience in libraries, having previously worked in state, academic, special and school libraries across Victoria. Since moving to Tasmania three years ago, she has worked in various sections of the State Library of Tasmania and is currently in the Heritage & Tasmanian Information Service. Sally is a member of the ALIA Tasmania group and is involved in planning a professional development day to be held later this year in Hobart.

Sally can be contacted on (03) 6234 7002 or email sally.murdoch@alia.org.au
