

More honours for distinguished contributors to libraries

Among those honoured on Australia Day 2012 were a number of community members already well known for their contribution to our profession in a range of capacities. Two are winners of our highest award for non-members, the Redmond Barry Award.

ALIA congratulates Redmond Barry Award winner Professor Stuart Macintyre, honoured on Australia Day for his distinguished service to the social sciences and humanities. Professor Macintyre has previously served as Council Member and as Deputy Chair of the National Library of Australia. A previous President of the Library Board of Victoria, and also a winner of the Redmond Barry Award, Ian Renard, was recognised for his service to tertiary education and the arts.

Elizabeth Ho, a previous Associate Director of the State Library of South Australia and Mortlock Librarian, was recognised for her service to education through her role as Director of the Bob Hawke Prime Ministerial Centre at the University of South Australia. Liz is also member of the National Preservation Board of the National Library of Australia and is a past member of ALIA.

The full list of honourees and their services to the library community are on the ALIA website. ALIA congratulates all on their extraordinary contributions across the Australian community and thanks each for their services to libraries over the years.

Student Member wins AGL Shaw Summer Research Fellowship

ALIA also congratulates student member Kristy Moody of RMIT on being awarded an AGL Shaw Summer Research Fellowship from the State Library of Victoria. Kristy is undertaking her honours year in Information Management and this Fellowship, valued at $1200, supported her to undertake an investigation of children's literature from both historical and contemporary standpoints, and to consider how the National Year of Reading will support the promotion of children's literature and the benefits of the children's literature.

The State Library of Victoria awards the AGL Shaw Fellowships to support postgraduate and honours students at Victorian universities to undertake research projects making strong use of the State Library's collections. The awards are named for eminent historian Emeritus Professor Alan George Lewers Shaw AO.
