HOUSES.

Application of Part.

49. (1) This Part shall apply only within the metropolitan area and within such other parts of the State to which the Governor may by proclamation declare that this Part shall apply.

(2) The Governor may by proclamation declare that this Part shall apply to any part of the State outside the metropolitan area and may by proclamation revoke or vary any such proclamation.

Interpretation.

50. In this Part—

“ rates ” means any charges levied by a council or by the Commissioner of Waterworks or the Commissioner of Sewers :

“ rent ” and “ rental ” in relation to any house, include any taxes or rates (other than excess water rates) payable by the tenant in respect of the house, and include any amount payable by the tenant to the landlord for the purpose of the repair, renovation, or improvement of the house.

51. The housing authority may from time to time fix classifications into which, for the purposes of the control of rentals pursuant to this Part, sub-standard houses may be classified.

Classification of houses.

52. (1) Where the housing authority, after making due inquiries and obtaining such reports as it deems necessary, is satisfied that any house is undesirable for human habitation or is unfit for human habitation, the housing authority may serve upon the owner and upon any registered mortgagee of the land on which the house is situate, a notice in writing stating that the housing authority intends to declare the house to be sub-standard for the purposes of this Part. Every such notice shall fix a time being not less than one month from the giving thereof, within which the owner or registered mortgagee may make any representations to the housing authority.

Application of rent control to houses.

(2) After considering any such representations the housing authority may, by notice in the Gazette, declare the house to be sub-standard for the purposes of this Part.

53. (1) Any owner of a house or registered mortgagee of the land on which a house is situate who feels aggrieved by any declaration of the housing authority that the house is sub-standard for the purposes of this Part may within one month after the publication of the declaration in the Gazette appeal therefrom to the local court of full jurisdiction nearest to the house.

Appeal from declaration of housing authority.

(2) The court shall hear and inquire into the appeal, and may either allow or dismiss the appeal, and for that purpose may do all such matters and things relating thereto, and in the same manner and to the same extent as it is empowered to do in the exercise of its ordinary jurisdiction, and the decision of the court shall be final and conclusive. The powers of the court shall include power to award costs.

(3) Whilst any such appeal is pending, the provisions of section 54 shall be suspended with respect to the house.

(4) When any such appeal is allowed the declaration of the housing authority that the house is sub-standard for the purposes of this Part, shall be deemed to be and to have been void and of no effect.

54. (1) After the expiration of one month from the publication in the Gazette of any declaration relating to a house or, if any appeal is made in respect of any such house and is disallowed, after the determination of such appeal, the housing authority may by notice in the Gazette—

Classification and fixing of maximum rentals of sub-standard houses.

(a) fix the classification (if any) of the house :

(b) fix the maximum rental per week which shall be payable in respect of the house.

(2) Every such notice shall come into force from the date of the publication thereof in the Gazette.

(3) In fixing the maximum rental payable in respect of any house, the housing authority shall so far as practicable, fix rentals which shall be uniform for houses of similar condition and accommodation in the same locality; and in fixing the maximum rental payable in respect of any house, the housing authority shall take into account the accommodation provided in the house, and its state of repair and general condition, and may take into account with respect to the house any of the matters mentioned in section 85, whether or not regulations have been made under that section.

of rent or classification.

55. (1) The housing authority may, from time to time, after making due inquiries and obtaining such reports as it deems necessary, by notice in the Gazette, vary the classification of, or alter the maximum rental payable in respect of any house or part thereof, as the case may be, included in any notice under section 54, 57, or 58.

If any maximum rental is altered as aforesaid, the rental so altered shall from the publication of the said notice be the maximum weekly rental of the house or part thereof, as the case may be, for the purposes of this Part.

(2) If after making due inquiries and obtaining such reports as it deems necessary, the housing authority is of opinion that any house included in any declaration under section 52 has ceased to be undesirable for human habitation or unfit for human habitation, as the case may be, the housing authority may by notice in the Gazette revoke the declaration made pursuant to section 52. Upon publication as aforesaid any notice previously given fixing the maximum rental of the house, or of any part thereof, shall from the date of such publication cease to have any force.

(3) Any person interested may at any time make application in writing to the housing authority for the exercise of any of the powers given by this section.

Rentals
payable for house.

56. (1) During the time any notice fixing the maximum rental of any house or any part thereof is in force under this Part, and notwithstanding any change in ownership or occupation of the house or part, the maximum rent per week which shall be payable in respect of the house or part thereof, as the case may be, shall be that fixed as aforesaid by the housing authority.

(2) Any amount by which the rent of the said house or part thereof, as the case may be, is in excess of the said maximum rental shall, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary, be irrecoverable.

(3) Where any sum has been paid on account of any rent, being a sum which by virtue of this Part would have been irrecoverable by the landlord, the sum so paid shall at any time within six months after the date of payment, be recoverable from the landlord who received the payment or his legal personal representative, by the tenant by whom it was paid, and may, without prejudice to any other method or recovery, be deducted by that tenant from any rent payable within such six months by him to such landlord.

(4) If any person in any rent book or similar document makes any entry showing or purporting to show any tenant as being in arrear in respect of any sum which by virtue of this Part is irrecoverable, he shall be guilty of an offence against this Act.

57. (1) If any notice fixing the maximum rental of any house is in force under this Part, the housing authority may by notice in the Gazette fix the maximum rental per week which shall be payable in respect of the subletting of any part of the house.

Subletting of
house.

(2) If the rental for any part sublet is not fixed as aforesaid, the maximum rental per week which shall be payable in respect of the subletting of that part shall be a rental which bears to the maximum rental fixed for the house the same proportion as the number of rooms so sublet bears to the total number of rooms in the house.

58. (1) If any notice fixing the maximum rental of any house is in force under this Part, and the house or any part thereof is let at a rental which includes payments for the use of any furniture, the housing authority may by notice in the Gazette fix the maximum rental per week which shall be payable in respect of the house or part thereof including any payment for the use of the furniture.

(2) If the rental for the house or part thereof is not fixed as aforesaid, then the maximum rental per week thereof, including any payment for the use of the furniture, shall be the maximum rental per week fixed pursuant to section 54 or 57, as the case may be.

59. (1) A person shall not, in consideration of the grant, renewal or continuance of a tenancy of a house in respect of which a notice fixing the maximum rental thereof is in force under this Part, require the purchase of any furniture and any agreement for any such purchase shall be void.

(2) A person shall not, in consideration of the grant, renewal or continuance of a tenancy of a house in respect of which a notice fixing the maximum rental thereof is in force under this Part, require the payment of any fine, premium, or other like sum in addition to the rent.

(3) Any amount paid by way of any such purchase of furniture, or by way of any such fine, premium, or sum, shall be recoverable by the person by whom it was paid from the person to whom it was paid, and may, without prejudice to any other method of recovery, be deducted from any rent payable in respect of the house by the person first-mentioned in this subsection to the person second mentioned in this subsection.

Supply of particulars of houses of which rentals are controlled.

60. Upon application in writing stating the particulars of any house in respect of which information is required by any person, and upon receipt of a fee of one shilling, the housing authority shall give or send by post to the person so applying a statement in writing as to whether as at the date of the statement a notice fixing the maximum rental of the house is in force under this Part, and, if so, giving particulars of the maximum rental.

Orders for possession.

61. (1) After the commencement of this Act, no order or judgment for the recovery of possession of a house in respect of which a notice fixing the maximum rental is in force under this Part, or for the ejection of a tenant therefrom, shall be made or given, so long as the tenant continues to pay rent at the rate agreed at the time of the publication of the said notice as modified by this Part, and performs the other conditions of the tenancy unless—

- (a) the tenant has committed waste, or has been guilty of conduct which is a nuisance or an annoyance to adjoining or neighbouring occupiers, or has been convicted of using the premises or allowing, suffering, or permitting the premises to be used for an immoral or illegal purpose, and the court considers it reasonable to make such an order or give such judgment ; or
- (b) the tenant, by sub-letting the house or any part thereof, or by taking in lodgers, is making a profit which, having regard to the rent paid by the tenant, is unreasonable, and the court considers it reasonable to make such an order or give such judgment ; or
- (c) the premises are required by the landlord for the occupation of the landlord or the spouse, son, daughter, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, father or mother of the landlord ; or

- (d) the premises are reasonably required by the landlord for the occupation of some person in his employ, or in the employ of some tenant from him, and the court, after considering all the circumstances of the case, including especially the alternative accommodation available for the tenant, considers it reasonable to make such an order or give such judgment; or
- (e) the landlord has entered into a contract to sell the house, under which contract he is obliged to give vacant possession of the house to the buyer, and has received not less than twenty per centum of the purchase-money; or
- (f) the tenant has given notice of his intention to quit, and in consequence of that notice the landlord has contracted to let the house or has taken other steps as a result of which he would, in the opinion of the court, be seriously prejudiced if he could not obtain possession; or
- (g) the house is reasonably required by the landlord for demolition, or for reconstruction to a substantial extent, and the court is satisfied that greater hardship would be caused by refusing to grant an order or judgment for possession than by granting it; or
- (h) the house is reasonably required by the landlord for the purpose of enabling him to comply with the requirements of a council, a local board, the Central Board of Health or the housing authority; or
- (i) the tenant was in the employment of the landlord and the house was let to him in consequence of that employment, and he has ceased to be in that employment.

(2) At the time of making any order or giving any judgment for the recovery of possession of any such house or for the ejectment of a tenant therefrom, or in the case of any such order or judgment which has been made or given, whether before or after the commencement of this Act or the coming into force of any notice under section 54 with respect to the house, and not executed, at any subsequent time, the court may stay or suspend execution of the order or judgment or postpone the date of possession, for such period or periods as it shall think fit, either unconditionally or subject to such conditions in regard to payment by the tenant of rent or mesne profits and otherwise, as the court shall think fit, and if such conditions are complied with, the court may, if it thinks fit, discharge or rescind such order or judgment.

Housing Improvement Act, 1940.

(3) Where any order or judgment in respect of any house has been made or given before the commencement of this Act, or the coming into force of any notice under section 54 with respect to the house, but not executed, and in the opinion of the court the order or judgment would not have been made or given if this Part had been in force at the time when such order or judgment was made or given, the court may, on application by the tenant, rescind or vary such order or judgment in such manner as the court may think fit for the purpose of giving effect to this Part.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in the Local Courts Act, 1926, or any other Act, a warrant for delivery of possession of a house which pursuant to such Act and apart from this section would remain in force for any fixed period prescribed in that behalf, shall remain in force for such further period or periods, if any, as the court shall from time to time, whether before or after the expiration of such fixed period, direct.

(5) This section shall not apply to any proceedings by the housing authority or a local board pursuant to this Act.
