STATE EMPLOYEES (LONG-SERVICE LEAVE).

No. 2 of 1965.

AN ACT to amend the State Employees (Long-Service Leave) Act 1950. [22 June 1965.]

BE it enacted by His Excellency the Governor of Tasmania, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly, in Parliament assembled, as follows:—

1—(1) This Act may be cited as the State Employees (Long-Service Leave) Act 1965. Short title and citation.

(2) The State Employees (Long-Service Leave) Act 1950, as subsequently amended, is in this Act referred to as the Principal Act.

2 Section four of the Principal Act is amended— Long-service leave.

(a) by omitting from subsection (2) thereof the words “subsections (2A) and ” and substituting therefor the word “subsection”; and

(b) by omitting subsections (2A) and (2B) thereof.

3 Section five of the Principal Act is amended by inserting after subsection (4) thereof the following subsections:— Length of service: How computed.

“(4A) Where an employee (being a woman)—

(a) resigns, or is compulsorily retired, from her employment on account of her marriage and, within a period of three months after the date of her resignation or retirement, again becomes an employee; and

No. 2. State Employees (Long-Service Leave). 1965.

- (b) does not, during that period, engage in any employment other than employment in the service of the State or of a State authority, the absence from duty of that employee during that period shall not be considered as breaking her continuity of service, but the period of her absence from duty shall not be included as part of her length of service for the purpose of computing the leave of absence to which she is entitled under this Act.

“(4B) Where an employee—

- (a) is stood down or dismissed from his employment by reason of any falling off of work or reduction in the number of persons employed in or by the relevant department, business, or undertaking; or
- (b) resigns, or is permitted to retire, from his employment on account of ill-health and is not entitled to a pension under the Superannuation Act 1938, and that employee, within a period of six months after the date on which he was stood down or dismissed or, as the case may be, on which he resigned or retired, is again employed by the State or a State authority the absence from duty of that employee during that period shall not be considered as breaking his continuity of service, but the period of his absence from duty shall not be included as part of his length of service for the purpose of computing the leave of absence to which he is entitled under this Act.

“(4C) Subject to subsection (4D) of this section, where an employee—

- (a) having held an office in the service of the State, is appointed or transferred to another office in the service of the State or of a State authority; or
- (b) having held an office in the service of a State authority, is appointed or transferred to an office in the service of another State authority or of the State, and that employee commences duty in the office to which he is so appointed or transferred within a period of two months after the date of his appointment or transfer thereto, the absence of that employee from duty during that period shall not be considered as breaking his continuity of service.

“(4D) The provisions of subsection (4C) of this section do not apply to or in relation to an employee who engages in any employment (other than employment in the service of the State or of a State authority) during the period mentioned in that subsection.”.
